How to Be Strengthened with His Power in Office

An unknown author recorded the following true story:

A certain rich English eccentric named Julian Ellis Morris liked to dress like a tramp and sell razor blades, soap, and shampoo door to door. After a day's work he would return to his beautiful mansion, put on formal attire and have his chauffeur drive him to an exclusive restaurant in his limousine. Sometimes he would catch a flight to Paris and spend the evening there.¹

MINISTRY UPDATE

The Unexpected, Wide-Open Door for Capitol Ministries Asia

During recent travels throughout Asia, one truth became increasingly clear: God continues opening doors in places where ministry opportunities often appear humanly impossible.

Across Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, and Bhutan, the Capitol Ministries team witnessed firsthand how faithful leaders are expanding Bible-teaching ministries among political leaders despite significant cultural, religious, and governmental challenges.

“I am in awe,” said Danielle Drollinger, President of Capitol Ministries. “These were some of the best launches I have ever attended. Watching the Lord quietly open doors in places where ministry once seemed impossible was incredibly encouraging. Time after time,

How to Be Strengthened with His Power in Office

The author goes on to make the point of this week’s study, stating,

Many Christians live something like Mr. Morris, spending their day-by-day lives in apparent spiritual poverty and only occasionally enjoying the vast riches of His glory that their heavenly Father has given them. How tragic to go around in the tattered rags of our own inadequacy when we could be living sumptuously in the superabundance of God’s unspeakable riches.²

As you read, “How to Be Strengthened with His Power in Office,” may God’s Word speak to you as to how you may live sumptuously in the superabundance of God’s unspeakable riches.

Read on, friend!

I. INTRODUCTION

Let us examine in careful detail a great passage of Scripture found in Ephesians 3:16–17:

That He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory, to be strengthened with power through His Spirit in the inner man, so that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith.

The passage is a prayer of Paul’s. He is praying the following idea: “Lord, give believers the capacity to know all of what they have in Christ so that these Ephesian believers will come to grips with the immense, multidimensional prosperity that is made available to each one of them—and to every other believer—through their faith in Christ!” Like many today, the Ephesian believers had a limited understanding as to what belonged to them because of their salvation in Christ. From this prayer, let us examine three beautiful spiritual riches that vividly unfold.

II. THE DELIVERER OF HIS POWER

That He would grant you, according to the riches of His glory

It is normative for the believer to be strengthened with power from above. Paul begins his prayer That He would grant you in a way that recalls his first prayer in Ephesians 1:17–18 that states:

That the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give to you a spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of Him. I pray that the eyes of your heart may be enlightened, so that you will know what is the hope of His calling, what are the riches of the glory of His inheritance in the saints.

Paul is being repetitive rhetorically in our home passage to emphasize the point he is making (like a preacher might raise his voice to emphasize an important point—see Philippians 3:1 and Galatians 1:8–9). Both that he would grant you and that the Father of glory, may give you are similar ideas: Paul’s praying in both passages reveals that he’s interceding for them (cf. 3:14), asking God to grant and give respectively. Note more precisely that Paul is not praying that God would grant and give what will follow as if they did not already possess these things (cf. Colossians 2:10). Rather, context suggests that he is praying God would grant and give what is to follow in a way that befits what has already been bequeathed by Him and exists in the believer at the point of salvation. Keep in mind as you study this passage that the idea of God’s having chosen and empowered the believer is something Paul has already established at the outset of his Ephesian letter (see Ephesians 1:4).

Notice the ways in which he will now describe what has been granted the believer: first, what has been granted is according to the riches of His glory. This phrase begins with according, thus indicating that the believer is empowered with strength corresponding to the One giving it. The Greek word for according is in contradistinction to the idea of “out of.” A millionaire, for example, might give $100—that would be out of his riches. If he gives $200,000, he gives according to his riches. Paul’s inspired prayer informs us that the believer’s strengthening is according to the One granting it! Romans 11:36 provides additional insight into this corresponding delivery capacity of God: For from Him and through Him and to Him are all things. The first portion of this profound passage provides a tight synopsis of God’s huge riches in ways more than physical! In a parallel passage from Colossians, Paul prayed that believers would be strengthened with all power, according to His glorious might (1:11). The grantor of strength is able to provide abundant strength corresponding to His capacity! How? God grants according to the riches of His glory!

Now add to this the last aspect of this stanza: God grants in accordance with His glory. Philippians 4:19 states the same idea stereophonically: And my God will supply all your needs according to His riches in glory in Christ Jesus.

His glory is the summing up of all His attributes, character, and manifest actions.

The believer is strengthened in accordance with all of this! It follows, then, that we Christians who understand these profound truths should exhibit abundantly more character, strength, and fruitfulness in our personal and professional lives than unbelievers, or believers who are naive to their standing in Christ.

Political leaders who are strong in Christ should not be living like Julian Ellis we witnessed God creating opportunities that we could never have planned ourselves.”

In Sri Lanka, where Parliament remains predominantly Buddhist, encouraging changes are taking place as more Christians are being elected into public office. Our National Ministry Leader, Pastor Satheeshsegaran Ramasamy Balasegaran (who goes by “Satheesh”), whom Capitol Ministries trained several years ago, has launched numerous ministries at both the local and provincial levels while also personally meeting one-on-one with Members of Parliament. Many Bible study leaders he has trained attended the launch, demonstrating the multiplying impact of faithful ministry leadership.

Morris did during the daytime! (See prologue.) Beloved fellow believers, do you live as though you are disconnected from or naive to your eternal source of power?

III. THE DESTINATION OF HIS POWER

To be strengthened with power through His Spirit in the inner man

Having substantiated the credible and omnipotent source of power available to and in the believer’s life, Paul continues in his manifest prayer, now describing God’s specific desired destination for all that indwelling power. We have already foreshadowed this destination in our study—and that is for all believers to be strengthened with power through His Spirit in the inner man. A common relationship exists that is found throughout the New Testament (NT) between the Holy Spirit and the believer’s empowerment because strengthening with power is one of the Holy Spirit’s ministries. The believer can count on this empowerment as the following numerous passages underscore the presence and ministry of the Spirit in the life of the believer.

“But you will receive power when the Holy Spirit has come upon you; and you shall be My witnesses both in Jerusalem, and in all Judea and Samaria, and even to the remotest part of the earth” (Acts 1:8).

Who was declared the Son of God with power by the resurrection from the dead, according to the Spirit of holiness, Jesus Christ our Lord (Romans 1:4).

And my message and my preaching were not in persuasive words of wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power (1 Corinthians 2:4).

For our gospel did not come to you in word only, but also in power and in the Holy Spirit and with full conviction; just as you know what kind of men we proved to be among you for your sake (1 Thessalonians 1:5).

It follows that to be strengthened with power discourages the believer’s grieving or quenching the Holy Spirit who indwells him at the point of his salvation (cf. Romans 8:9).

To grieve or quench the Holy Spirit is to cut off your power supply!

Paul specifically states this idea later in his letter to the Ephesians when he writes in 4:30, Do not grieve the Holy Spirit of God, by whom you were sealed for the day of redemption. He tells the Thessalonians in his first letter to them (5:19): Do not quench the Spirit. Rather, in order to live powerfully the believer must be filled with the Spirit (Ephesians 5:18) and walk by the Spirit (Galatians 5:16). To do so is to fuse God’s power directly into your inner man! When this fusion occurs and is consistent over a time span, there will be outwardly identifiable characteristics. Galatians 5:22–23 calls these characteristics the fruit of the Spirit: love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self-control. Walking in the Spirit, being empowered by the Holy Spirit, always equates to the believer’s manifesting increasingly His attributes, character, and actions! Walking in the power of the Holy Spirit is both critical and progressive. That is to say, we should walk in the Spirit in contrast to quenching or grieving the indwelling Holy Spirit in order to bear fruit in the moment. Walking in the Spirit also means that those who have walked in the Spirit for a greater span of time will have borne more fruit than those who have walked in the Spirit for a shorter time frame.

What exactly does the indwelling Holy Spirit directing God's power into the inner man (eso anthropos) mean?

Consider this explication from commentator W. David Stacey:

The sphere in which the strengthening is to take place is "the inner person." It is [best] to understand the inner person as the "interior of our being ... the seat of personal consciousness ... and our moral being." It is the focal point at the center of a person's life where the Spirit does His strengthening and renewing work. Indeed, the inner self stands in need of empowering given our struggle against sin (Romans 7:22).³

Paul refers to this inner man in 2 Corinthians 4:16 when he says, though our outer man is decaying, yet our inner man is being renewed day by day. That renewal is such good news for someone whose outer man is worn out with age! Albeit our physical bodies are decaying and becoming increasingly weaker with age, our inner spiritual man should continue to grow stronger and stronger the longer we walk in the power of the Holy Spirit! Isn't that news encouraging? God's Spirit will increasingly strengthen your inner man for as long as you live—if you continue to yield to Him! So strong is this indwelling Spirit in the inner man that it can slay the evil deeds of our flesh! States Romans 8:13: but if by the Spirit you are putting to death the deeds of the body, you will live. In Galatians 5:16 Paul echoes this idea when he states, Walk by the Spirit, and you will not carry out the desire of the flesh. Is that true in your life? Are you walking in obedience to God's Word? If you are, then you can rest assured that He is empowering and improving you daily! You are being strengthened with power through His Spirit in the inner man! Amen! Keep it up, dear friend!

IV. THE DESIRE OF HIS POWER

So that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith

Many are the biblical reasons for God's empowering the believer. Among these reasons is the clause, that Christ may dwell in your hearts through faith. What exactly do these words mean?

Inner man (eso anthropos) and heart (kardia) carry a similar Greek NT meaning. Inner man contrasts with outer man (exo anthropos) in Pauline word usage throughout the NT. Both are in reference to those made in the image of God (cf. Genesis 1:26). But the differentiation is this: exo is used by Paul to refer to the physical and mortal side of man whereas eso is used to describe "The inward man [as] the true self, yearning for the life of the Spirit. ... It is the essential self ... that passes from the body of the flesh to the body of the resurrection."⁴ Heart (kardia, from which we derive the English word cardiology, i.e., "the study of the physical heart in medicine") is for Bible study ministry to begin. Although authorities closely monitored activities and security personnel observed the launch, our Bangladesh ministry leaders, Richard Biswas and Nohemio Biswas, continue moving forward with courage as they establish ministry efforts not only among parliamentarians but also throughout local and regional governments.

In Bhutan, where public evangelism remains illegal, more than 20 pastors gathered to support the ministry launch and partner together in reaching political leaders with the Gospel. One Christian Member of Parliament attended the launch and committed to helping introduce additional lawmakers to ministry leaders moving forward.

One of our Ministry Leaders, Pradeep Chhetri, owns a café within walking distance of the Capitol. He and his restaurant staff serve many Members of Parliament each week. Pradeep and his fellow ministry team members rented a small room next door to the café by faith, and dedicated it to the Lord as a private place where they could share the Gospel—and the Lord is answering their prayers.

These launches represent far more than individual events. They represent new relationships, growing discipleship opportunities, and expanding access to political leaders throughout Asia.

What we witnessed repeatedly throughout this trip was that the Lord continues to do what only He can do—opening doors where none previously existed.

“Through your prayers and God’s grace, we successfully launched ministries in Sri Lanka, Bangladesh, and Bhutan,” used in the NT to mean “supremely the one center in man to which God turns, in which religious life is rooted, which determines moral conduct.”⁵ God opens the heart and illuminates it in the miracle of salvation.

Note this usage in Acts 16:14: A woman named Lydia ... was listening; and the Lord opened her heart (kardia) to respond to the things spoken by Paul. More broadly understood throughout the NT than the specific act of salvation (as important as it is to understand that subject), the word heart is used to indicate the center of the inner life of man. It is the seat and source of each of the three aspects that best define the overall composition of man: his body, soul, and spirit.

The crux word to properly understanding this portion of our passage under study is the word dwell (katoikeo). This word dwell does not refer to the initial indwelling of Christ at the point of salvation, but rather to His continual abiding presence. After all, every believer is indwelt by Christ at the point of salvation as indicated by the following numerous passages:

Test yourselves to see if you are in the faith; examine yourselves! Or do you not recognize this about yourselves, that Jesus Christ is in you—unless indeed you fail the test (2 Corinthians 13:5).

To whom God willed to make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles, which is Christ in you, the hope of glory (Colossians 1:27).

In our passage under study, the mention of indwelling is more closely related to sanctification. The verb katoiko means “to settle down,” “to dwell fixedly in a place.” Katoiko is used similarly in Colossians 1:19 and 2:9, referring to the totality of God’s attributes and the powers of the Godhead dwelling in Christ. Notice this respectively: For it was the Father’s good pleasure for all the fullness to dwell in Him. ... For in Him all the fullness of Deity dwells in bodily form.

Now add to this the following: in the Greek, two words translate into the English dwell. The other Greek word is paroikeo, which is used in the NT to refer to a sojourner’s dwelling like Abraham, a foreigner’s dwelling in a land that does not belong to him. The point in bringing up this second word for dwell is this: had Paul meant verse 17 of our study passage to mean dwell in a soteriological sense, a salvific sense, he would have utilized this word instead. Accordingly, Paul is praying that the believer would have Christ take up a permanent, ongoing residence in the center of his being, wherein his intellect, emotions, volition, personality, and thoughts originate! He is praying that Christ will be the absolute center of your life! Is He?

Implied in the words of Paul in this passage is that Jesus Christ would rule over all that we are and do! Paul is praying that the believer would have Christ control him as his rightful owner!

Does He control your heart, your inner man?

This prayer is in keeping with Paul’s thesis or application of earlier positional truths in the epistle: He chose us in Him before the foundation of the world. ...

He predestined us to adoption as sons. ... For we are His workmanship created in Christ Jesus for good works, which God prepared beforehand so that we would walk in them (Ephesians 1:4, 5, 2:10). It is in accordance with these earlier propositional truths that we find Paul praying in chapter 3 that God would give them the capacity to understand and make continually real these earlier expounded significant truths! If what was said earlier is true, then Christ by all means should dwell fixedly in place! Christ is not just inside your life but at home in your life! Perhaps the best picture of Christ's indwelling, being completely at home in your life, is provided by Robert Boyd Munger in his book, My Heart, Christ's Home. The late John MacArthur summarizes it this way:

[The Christian life is pictured] as a house, through which Jesus goes from room to room. In the library, which is the mind, Jesus finds trash and all sorts of worthless things, which He proceeds to throw out and replace with His Word. In the dining room of appetite He finds many sinful desires listed on a worldly menu. In the place of such things as prestige, materialism, and lust He puts humility, meekness, love, and all the other virtues for which believers are to hunger and thirst. He goes through the living room of fellowship, where He finds many worldly companions and activities, through the workshop, where only toys are being made, into the closet, where hidden sins are kept, and so on through the entire house. Only when He had cleaned every room, closet, and corner of sin and foolishness could He settle down and be at home.⁶

Christ cannot be at home in our hearts until our inner man submits to His empowering.

Munger's picture of what it means to be indwelt by the Holy Spirit is authenticated further by what Jesus said in John 14:23, "If anyone loves Me, he will keep My Word; and My Father will love him, and We will come to him and make Our abode with him."

Further states MacArthur in summary fashion regarding this passage:

Jesus enters the house of our hearts the moment He saves us, but He cannot live there in comfort and satisfaction until it is cleansed of sin and filled with His will. God is gracious beyond comprehension and infinitely patient. He continues to love those of His children who insist on spurning His will. But He cannot be happy or satisfied in such a heart. He cannot be fully at home until He is allowed to dwell in our hearts through the continuing faith that trusts Him to exercise His lordship over every aspect of our lives.⁷

V. SUMMARY

Lastly, this indwelling in the heart is through faith. A synonym for faith is trust. In other words,

As they trust Him, He makes their hearts His home. The implication of the apostle's prayer is that the more the Spirit empowers one's life the greater will be their transformation into the likeness of Christ, a point that will be developed throughout the second half of the letter.⁸

As a believer, you will be strengthened with His power to the degree that you are obedient to the will of God. It is directly proportional. So, do you want to be powerful in D.C.? Do you want to change the direction America is headed? Do you want to make your time on the Hill count? Then may we suggest to you, as per this powerful and insightful passage we have studied, that God says this to you: "The degree to which you are obedient to My revealed will in Scripture is the degree to which I will empower you with My strength to do the job." May God use this lesson in your life in a wonderful way, friend.

The first views man as body, soul, and spirit, while the second sees the soul and spirit as one and the same. The monist holds to no distinction. The debate centers around 1 Thessalonians 5:23, which I would view along with Mark 12:30 and Matthew 22:37 as emphatic expressions delineating the specificity of the Holy Spirit's sanctifying process—versus an anthropological exegesis of man's makeup.
